

Participate in a research study on: Gender Inclusion in Policing Recruitment

Share your thoughts regarding barriers to recruit females and gender-diverse people into policing, strategies to support such recruitment and how these strategies align with overall diversity, equity and inclusion goals.

Principal Investigator:

Dr. Nitin Deckha, University of Guelph-Humber, Toronto

In partnership with Ontario Women in Law Enforcement

There's two ways to get involved:

1. Take a 10-minute survey on gender inclusion initiatives and recruitment barriers in your police service here: https://uoguelph.eu.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_37qNlc0tFnne4S2

2. Take part in a 45-minute secure, virtual interview with the research team exploring: (a) barriers for females and gender-diverse people in policing; (b) recruiting initiatives and strategies to promote gender inclusion; and (c) your service's commitment to gender inclusion

You can do one or both!

Survey participants can obtain a $5 e-gift card. Interview participants can receive a $20 e-gift card!
